Descriptive Texts - Simple past and past progressive

What is a descriptive Text?

Descriptive text shows, through careful observation, how a thing is done (a place, a person, an animal), highlighting the features, qualities, distinctive aspects, in order to furnish a clear and complete conception.

The main objective of a descriptive text is to inform. It is the case of the technical descriptions in scientific encyclopedias, handbooks, dictionaries, guides.

This type of texts is widespread in all areas of social life. They are often placed within narrative, expository or argumentative. Any text (journalism, advertising, scientific manual, etc...) contains, in fact, one or more descriptive parts.

Student A

Read and complete the information below about the Beatles. Ask your classmate to get the missing information

The Beatles were one of the most successful and influential pop-music groups of the 1960's. This quartet of British musicians was the guitarist John Lennon (October 9, 1940 - December 8, 1980); bass guitarist *George Harrison* Paul McCartney (born June 18, 1942); lead guitarist George Harrison (February 25, 1943 - November 29, 2001); and drummer Ringo Starr (originally Richard Starkey; born July 7, 1940).

Lennon formed a band in Liverpool, England, while he was in high school in the mid-1950's. McCartney and then Harrison joined the group in the late 1950's. In its early years the band also had several other members. In 1962 they signed a recording contract with a large music company. At about this time they chose Starr to replace drummer Pete Best.

At first the Beatles songs were upbeat and fairly simple. The first song recorded by the Beatles was "Love Me Do" in 1962. Their first hit came the following year, when "Please Please Me" climbed to the top of British music charts.

Moreno Pinto Leonardo Sib

The Beatles became very famous in Britain. People started calling the excitement over the band Beatmania. The Beatles became wildly popular in the United States too after appearing on Ed Sullivan's television program in February 1964. Teenage girls across the country screamed and fainted over them, and boys copied the Beatles look. By April 1964 the top five hits in the United States were all Beatles songs.

In the late 1960's, the Beatles began creating more adventurous music, combining different musical styles. The album Sergeant Pepper's Lonely Hearts Club Band (1967) showed a new complexity. The band also recorded the albums, The Beatles (1968), Abbey Road (1969), and Let It Be (1970).

The pressures of fame led the Beatles to break up in 1970. All four continued their musical careers - Lennon with his wife named Yoko Ono, McCartney with the band Wings and later as a solo performer; and Starr and Harrison mainly as solo artists.

- Which was your favorite band?
- Which was your favorite song?
- Did you know the lyrics of your favorite song?
- Who was the most beautiful artist of the band?
- Did you know any of them?

In the first question, she answered "Los temerarios"

In the next question, she answered "My favorite song of Los temerarios was Ven Porque Es Necesario, in that time I was in love"

In the third question, she surprised me, because he answered "Yes, I did, I was writing the lyrics in my English notebook"

In the following question, she answered "The principal vocalist was beautiful"

In the last question, she answered "Yes, I did, in one concert, I kissed him."

Read the following text: Mariah Carey's Biography and according to the information, Write 10 true or false sentences about specific situations that happened and were happening in the life of the artist

My favorite singer was Mariah Carey. She was a very young girl at that time. She had a very beautiful voice. Some of the critics said that she had a terrible voice but she won a lot of awards thanks to her voice. She was born in 1970. She was born in New York. She had two older siblings: a brother Morgan and a sister, Alison. She got married twice. Carey's parents divorced when she was three years old.

She was one of the most successful female performers of the 1990s and remained popular into the early 21st century.

Carey, whose mother was a vocal coach and former opera singer, began performing as a child. After graduating (1987) from high school in Greenlawn, New York, she moved to New York City to pursue a singing career. She made a demo tape that led Tommy Mottola, an executive at Columbia Records, to sign her in 1988; the couple married in 1993. Her debut album, Mariah Carey (1990), showcased her incredible vocal range and blended several musical genres including gospel, pop, and rhythm and blues (R&B). It was a huge success, and in 1991 Carey won Grammy Awards for best new artist and best female pop vocalist. That same year the title track from her follow-up album, Emotions, became her fifth consecutive chart-topping single. Subsequent hit albums included Music Box (1993) and Daydream (1995), both of which sold some 10 million copies in the United States, as well as the holiday-themed Merry Christmas (1994). All the recordings were accompanied by music videos that helped make Carey a fixture on the cable network MTV. Despite such success, Carey grew tired of the sweet and wholesome image that her label had developed for her. After announcing her separation from Mottola in 1997 (they divorced in 1998), she released Butterfly (1997), which reflected her new independence. The album was heavily influenced by hip-hop and rap and the related music videos revealed a more sexual Carey. The single "Heartbreaker" (featuring Jay-Z) topped the charts in 1999, making Carey the first artist to hit number one on the Billboard singles chart in each year of a decade.
